

City Psychology Group (CPG) is recruiting NOW for the position of Clinical Affiliate for its Harley Street, Liverpool Street and Canary Wharf Clinics

We offer highly competitive rates of pay plus the addition of monthly bonuses.

This is a Part-Time post, highly flexible around you! All we require is at least 2 sessions on different days per week which can be made up of morning, afternoon and evening sessions – (Monday to Saturday).

We are looking for BPS Chartered and HCPC Registered Counselling or Clinical Psychologists.

If you are passionate about psychological therapy, enjoy working within a team environment and have an excellent academic record with a proven track record of success in the practice of psychology, then CPG would like to hear from you now!

CPG is an independent group practice of highly skilled Practitioner Psychologists with varying degrees of experience and expertise. We have strong links with a range of other healthcare consultants both within the NHS and the private sector. Our busy practice is backed up by an experienced and efficient administration and customer care service. We provide clinical, counselling, occupational and coaching psychology services of the highest quality from our Harley Street, Liverpool Street and Canary Wharf, London premises. We work with people of all ages, individuals, families and groups experiencing a variety of emotional and psychological problems. The majority of our client group consists of top corporate executives.

CPG continues to grow day by day, week by week and we are currently looking for skilled practitioners to join our thriving, vibrant and fast-growing practice. Candidates will be either Counselling or Clinical Psychologists. They will have a strong grasp of evidence-based psychological therapy (including CBT and third-wave contextual CBTs/Mindfulness-based approaches, i.e. ACT) and ethical practice and will have gained significant experience in the assessment and treatment of a variety of psychological conditions amongst a variety of client groups. Experience of working in a 'focused and brief' psychological therapy framework is desirable. The ability to work as part of a team is essential. Previous work experience within the private sector is not essential and the post may suit those that have a part time NHS role.

The successful candidate will have the opportunity to work with our challenging and stimulating client group from our prestigious and centrally located consulting rooms in London. They will be expected to practice on a self-employed basis as part of the CPG team and will be required to adhere to our standard procedures and attend regular supervision and team meetings.

This is a part-time role where we offer highly competitive rates of pay and monthly bonuses. Is this the type of job your looking for?
